

HOUSE & HOME

The dog bed and the Cézannes

Robin Lane Fox visits the Barnes Foundation in Philadelphia, new home to the philanthropist's incredible art collection

9:51 PM Friday

At home: Donna Karan

Last updated: 7:49pm

Refresh

The fashion designer and yogi tells Helen Chislett how her late husband, Stephan Weiss, taught her the importance of a process he called ‘connect the dots’

8:33 PM Friday

New builds, new Delhi

While prices may be high in the Indian capital, there are lots of excellent deals to be found in nearby Noida and Gurgaon, writes Avantika Chilkoti

8:31 PM Friday

White lights, big city

Despite fears over the eurozone crisis, an increase in tourism has improved prospects for investors and buyers of second homes in Lisbon, writes Mary Wilson

8:19 PM Friday

Creation out of devastation

Innovations in Japan since the 2011 earthquake are not only making lives easier – they may even help save them, writes Clarissa Sebag-Montefiore

8:18 PM Friday

David Tang

Fusion confusion

What to do when one is approached by too friendly waiters? I always go prepared so that when they stretch their hand out, I hand them my hat, says David Tang

Robin Lane Fox

Aster way to do it

Forget those vineyards. A runaway planting is a much better way to bring autumn and a garden's plan to a close, writes Robin Lane Fox

The last blank canvas

From Vauxhall to Battersea, the South Bank is undergoing a major regeneration, where total investment is expected to be £10bn, writes Lucy Warwick-Ching

8:31 PM Friday

Land of wine and money

A wide range of properties located in various Italian regions makes this an attractive time to buy income-producing property, writes Madeleine Johnson

8:18 PM Friday

Escapes and dreamscapes

The fourth of a series looks at the great outsiders who rebelled against the tyranny of straight lines to create wonders, writes Edwin Heathcote

8:20 PM Friday

Expat lives: Split screens

After setting up the Toronto International Film Festival in 1976, Henk Van der Kolk then moved to Panama and did it all again, writes David Kaufman

8:21 PM Friday

Nightmare of elm trees

In the face of overwhelming pestilence and plague, Matthew Wilson suggests some trees that may be considered ‘future-proof’, such as the Tree of Heaven